Reunion

Welcome to the Barker Tavern overlooking beautiful Scituate Harbor and the Old Scituate Lighthouse. We thought this an appropriate setting for our gathering tonight.

And welcome to the first joint class reunion for former members of the classes of 1945, 1946, 1947 and 1948. On the 35th anniversary of the Class of 1948 graduation, and because of many requests, we have gathered tonight to renew old acquaintances and hopefully start a trend toward joint gatherings of former alumni of Scituate High School.

This reunion has been possible because of the cooperation, determination and combined efforts of an interested group of "Satuit" natives who have worked for over a year to make tonight happen. We have also had ideas, voluntary contributions of talent, and suggestions from people outside the SHS community who took an interest in a novel idea and wanted to see it work. The research and information that has gone into this evenings program and into this souvenir booklet has been gathered through personal interviews, letters and phone calls with local residents and former and present teachers. This has resulted in a wealth of information too numerous to print here but worthy of being retained for its historical value alone. We now have the answers to your first question of "Whatever happened to"

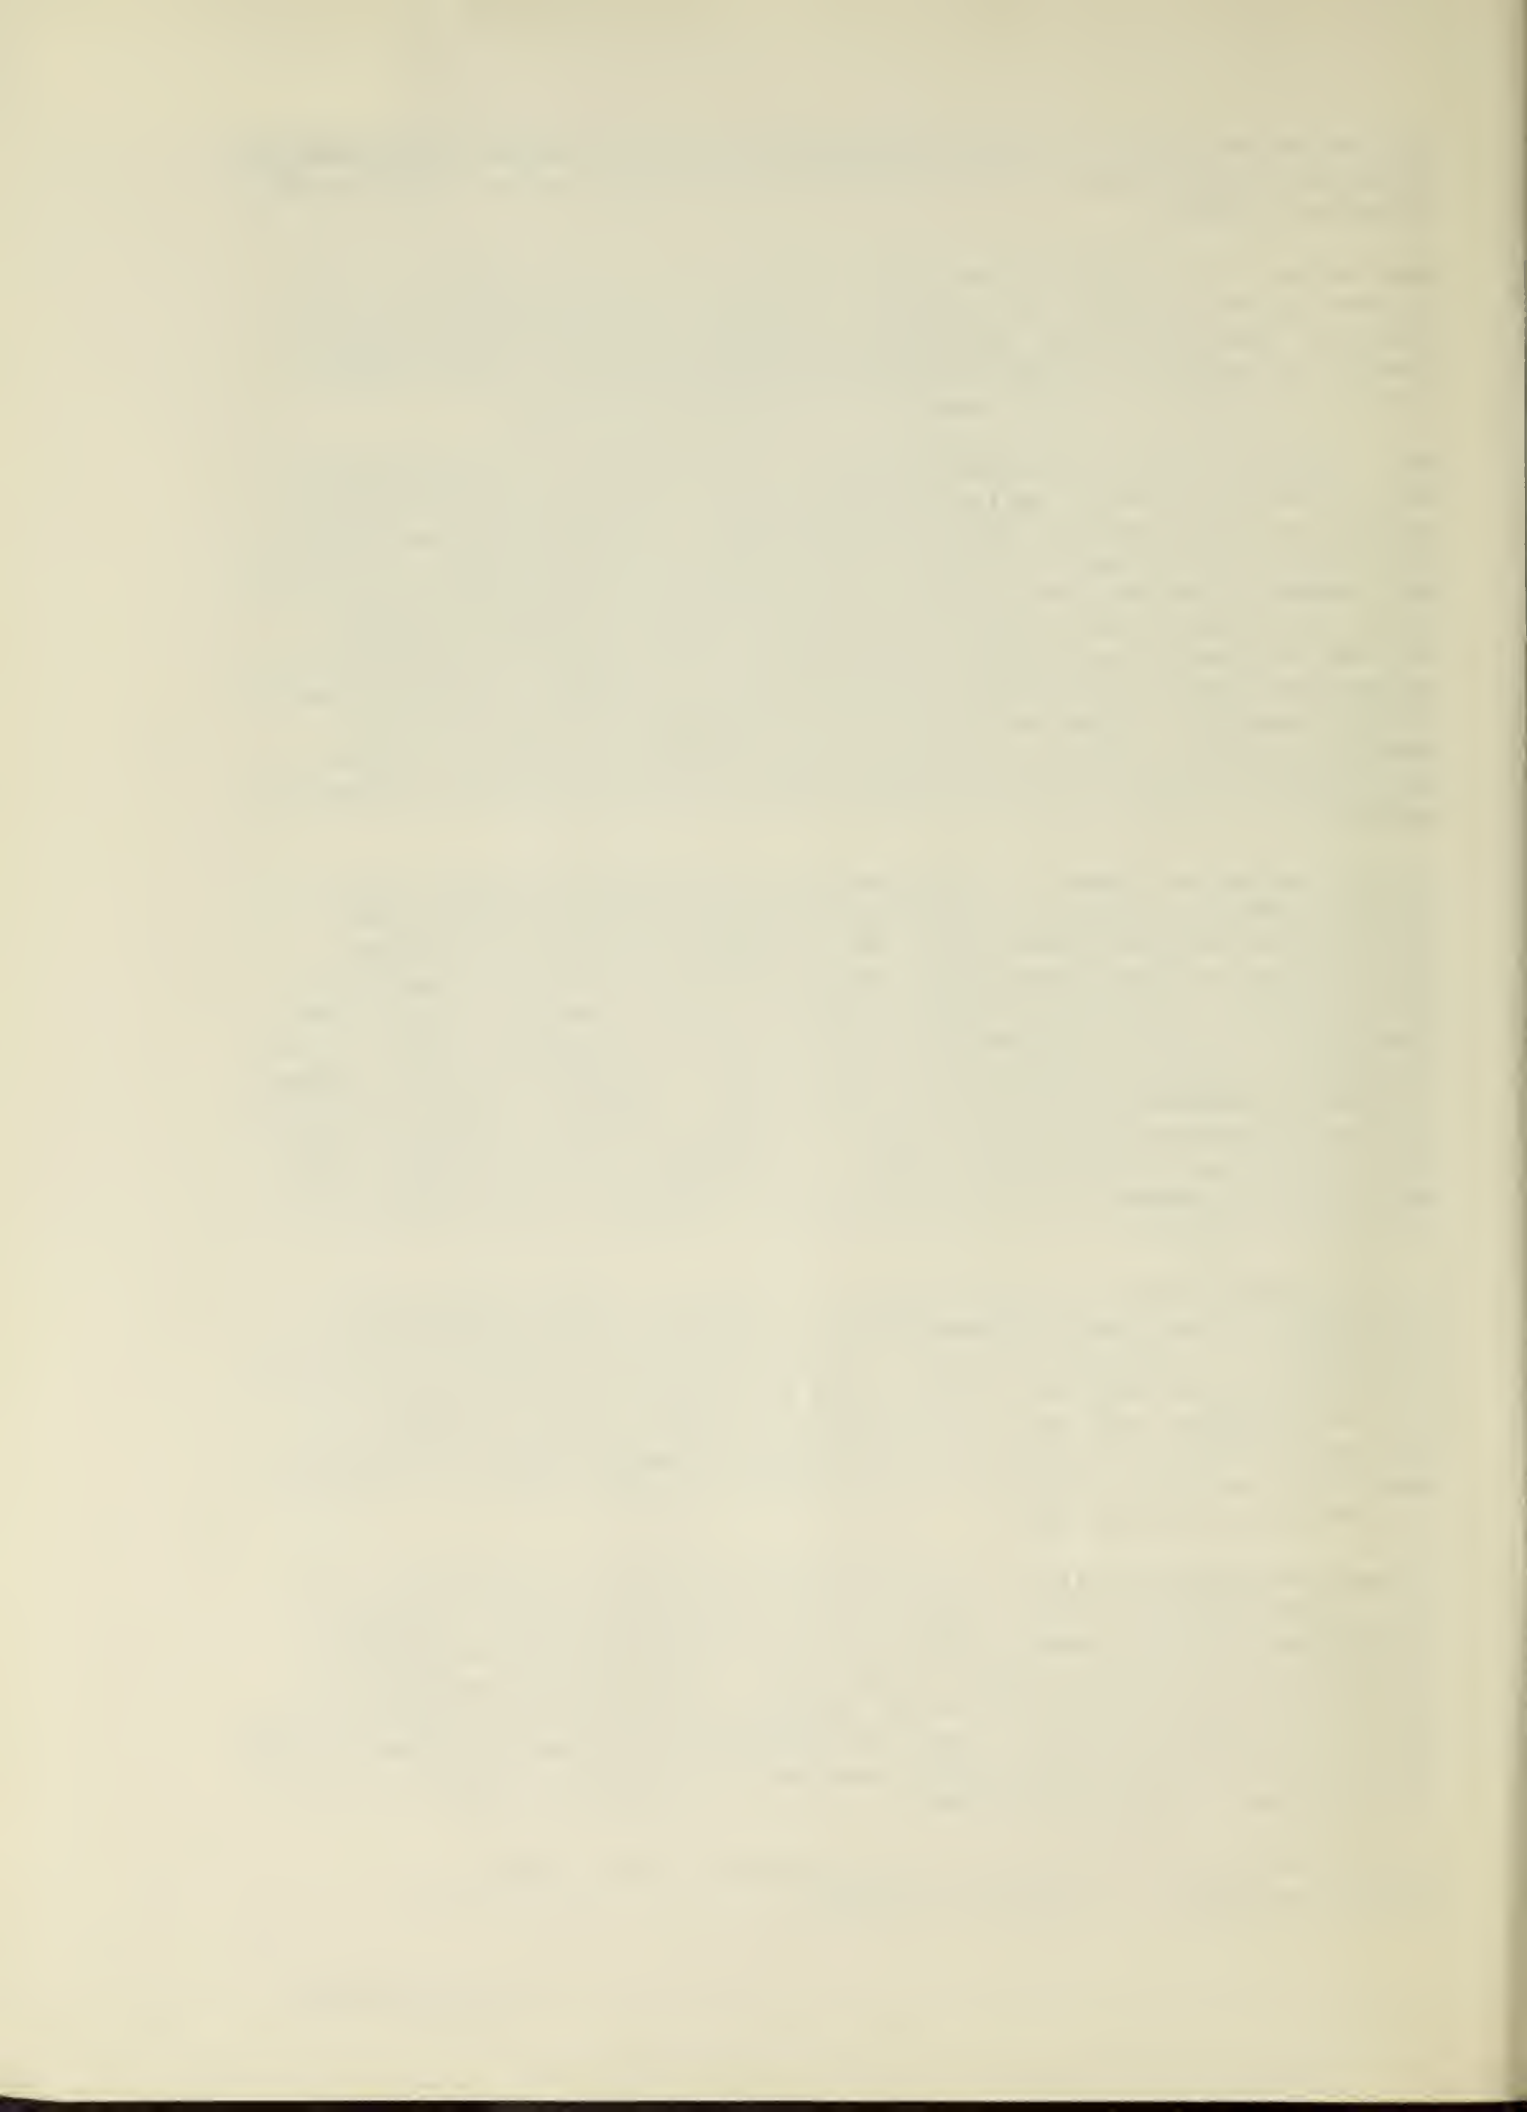

We have set as our theme of this reunion, the CHIMES which has, over the years, become the symbol of Scituate, represented by the famous water tower and as the name adopted for the Scituate High School yearbooks. A brief history of the Lawson Tower and its bells is printed elsewhere in this booklet. Our theme evolved into part history and part fun on the occasion of the 60th anniversary of the Town of Scituate purchase of "the chimes" for the Lawson Tower and the closing of the Lawson Estate, scene of many get-togethers and dances "in our day". Dreamwold Hall was closed this past February and sold in April. Condominiums are scheduled to be built on the site in the near future. A nostalgic "Dreamwold Dance" was held this past winter for those who cared to reminisce and bring back a little of yesteryear.

We have people with us tonight from all corners of this country; from Steilacoom in the State of Washington to Annapolis, Maryland; from Westbrook, Maine to Arlington, Texas. We have gathered as many of our former classmates as possible in the hope that by bringing this group together, we will redevelop some lost friendships and develop some new ones. We have some exciting events for you this evening which promise to make you laugh a lot and cry a little; to gasp "Oh, I remember that. . ." and to ask "What class was he in?"

We have some novelty gifts to be distributed and some souvenirs of this occasion so that you will remember this get-together and to show your friends and neighbors what a great town you came from and to tell your children what a terrific class you were in. For starters, we want to remind you, that as you look around tonight and talk to your former classmates, as you hear over and over, the comment "You haven't changed a bit!", you will come to realize you must have gone through high school as a fat, fifty-year-old, grey-haired kid!

We'll be doing this again soon so just consider this a warm-up.
WELCOME and ENJOY! Its good to see you!

ABOUT OUR COVER: The cover of this booklet is an enlargement of the first issue of the CHIMES (Jan. 1924). We have purposely left off any printing or lettering so that you may recycle it; frame it, or decopage it. The CHIMES, when first printed in 1924, was issued several times a year and sold for 25¢.

ABOUT OUR BOOKLET: This booklet is intended as a souvenir of the first joint class reunion and has been used as a vehicle to pass along to you some of the interesting bits of information we came across while doing research for the reunion. We have used jokes which have come from past issues of the CHIMES (1924-1948). The names have been changed in some cases to make them more appropriate. The illustrations are intended to remind you of yesteryear and give you a chuckle. There are pieces of information about some former teachers and an edited letter from a former Jenkins School teacher, Grace Hague Lull, which was exceptionally helpful in recalling elementary school as it was in the 30'ies. The full letter will be on the table of memorabilia for your viewing.

ABOUT THE TABLE OF MEMORABELIA: We have attempted to gather as much information, pictures, actual hand-made objects from Industrial Arts and Art classes as possible for you to look over. Some of the objects are pretty fragile, so you are asked to handle them carefully. The centerpiece is a replica of the Lighthouse which was borrowed for this occasion. You will find old and new items and pictures, a blend of this and that which we felt might be of interest. There is correspondence from class members who could not be present but who wanted to let you know what they have been doing. You will also find a list of addresses of each member of the four classes for your convenience.

TAKE A BOW: Most of the art work throughout this booklet will be recognized as the artwork of Polly Hardwick Litchfield. Jackie Cole Damon and Gladdie Hill Bartlett worked up the floral centerpieces on each table. Ginny Mongeau Hansell and Ruth Whittaker Roberts made sure this booklet "got to press." Jean Prouty Curtis arranged the banquet site and found housing for people in need of overnight accommodations. Emily Whittaker Finnie did research, more research, letterwriting, phone calls and drove miles and miles to gather information and memorabilia for our use. We are especially grateful to Dama Sherman Bearce for her contributions to the reunion (all secret stuff.) And there have been several people who have pitched in who never went to any of the Scituate schools but who are now residents and took an interest in what we were doing and wanted to help out. We owe all of these people a debt of gratitude.

Dear Emily,

It is always happy memories I have when I recall my teaching days in Scituate. You may remember I had "two tours of duty" there. My first was from Sept. 1929-Dec. 1943. The second time I was there from 1952-1958.

I think it is great you and Ruth are heading up the reunion. Now I'll try to go back into yesteryear! You remember, of course, The Old Jenkins School. I had an assistant mornings. A Miss Hather Jones. The classes were large. Mr. Wingate was the Supt. He hired me to teach and the first grade class in Sept. 1929 consisted of 56 pupils! A count of over 50 in Mass. required an assistant. Both Miss Jones and I were young--had taught 2 years prior to coming to Scituate. The class was broken up into small groups. The Bunnies, the Bluebirds, etc. I taught all the reading, Miss Jones did the Math--One class after another all morning. As we had these 2 groups the rest of the class were practicing or doing seatwork--colored pegs being placed in holes in wooden squares, or filling blanks in workbooks or writing and rewriting their names--cursive writing of course Miss Weeden and her sister Arleen were in 2nd grade and Miss Lillian was really strict. At the end of that first year we retained only 5 pupils to repeat the grade--the rest of the class could stand in the front of the room and read aloud from a Beacon Bk I - and do it well! Phonic training was the basis, I believe still cannot be beat. In Math all knew well the addition and subtraction combinations from 1-10. In the P.M. we had writing, spelling, music, art, and story hour. -- No coffee breaks or smoking or time out! Lots of seat work preparation on my part every evening. LeRoy Fuller was the Principal We were all dedicated teachers, did our jobs, very few teachers meetings and rarely a discipline problem. The Good Old Days?? "Cutter Young" was janitor--The "jons" were in the basement, I think -- old coal furnace--freezing cold during an old Nor-Easter--We could see the ocean from our windows--cemetery in back--After a funeral youngsters walking to school would bring the teachers flowers from a new grave! Standing in the corner or a 15-20 min. stay after school were the only punishments at that time.

Mr. Burrill was Hatherly Prin., but in those days N. Scituate was N. Scituate--We were the "Harbor Gang". Thelma and Barbara Annis and Lois Cushing were later at Hatherly. Dot Maxim, Jr. High--Esther Harrington, High--Doris Rowell-- Barbara Coleman was substitute art teacher. Then in the 30ies came a Miss Ruth Whidden for gym--mats on the floor in the front of the room for tumbling--various relay ball games in the seats or aisles--screwed down desks and chairs Miss Rowell and I "Scrabble" nearly every week! She lives in Westford

Despite the fact I'm retired, I seem to keep busy. I live alone, (my husband passed away in '78)--on a small apple farm. Have a nice young fellow running the orchard--come and see me--I play a lot of Bridge--have a garden--go on trips--Have a reservation to fly to Calif. April 5-29 - to visit my brothers. Going to Maine to an Elder Hostel Program in May, and hopefully to Scotland in August. Every week goes by so fast!

. Do let me hear how your reunion plans finalize--The best of luck to you and your committee, and regards and best wishes to any of my former pupils.

Most Sincerely --
/s/ Grace (Hague) Lull

NOTES OF INTEREST:

In Sept., 1937, a change was made in the administration of the High School building. Up to this time there had been an organization of grades seven and eight as a Junior High School unit largely independent of the Senior High School, and with a separate principal. To secure greater unity of administration, the separate units were no longer emphasized. Mr. Whitmore, for seven years principal of grades seven and eight, was transferred to the science department.

In the year ending Dec. 1948, Hatherly School had 221 students, Jenkins had 294 students and the Jr.-Sr. High School had 379 students for a total enrollment of 894.

The Class of 1945 started at Jenkins School with five sets of twins--Josephine and Joseph Arcana; Ora and Cathrine Brown; Priscilla and Phyllis Cobbett; Marilyn and Richard Ewell; and Robert and Joseph Fitzpatrick.

Quote: December 1932 (fifty years ago)
Superintendent of Schools--Harold C. Wingate, "In the State, as a whole, nearly seventy-five per cent of the school dollar is spent for teachers salaries and incidental expenses of instruction; such as textbooks and scholar's supplies, while in Scituate less than sixty per cent is spent for the same purpose." Expenditures for 1932 were $54,573.84
(Total pupils -- all grades 708)

THERE'S GOOD NEWS AND BAD NEWS 3 FIRST, THE BAD NEWS.....!!

BEER JACKETS

Scituate High School was built in 1916, and had 3 classrooms, 2 commercial rooms, 1 laboratory, 1 library and reference room, 1 art room (in the basement). There was no study room, and the assembly hall had seats for 125.

During the war, we had air-raid drills and had to wait it out in the basement corridors until the "all-out" was sounded. Bob Glynn was the Fire Chief and Edward Soule, Bob Mongeau and Pete Fleming were his assistants.

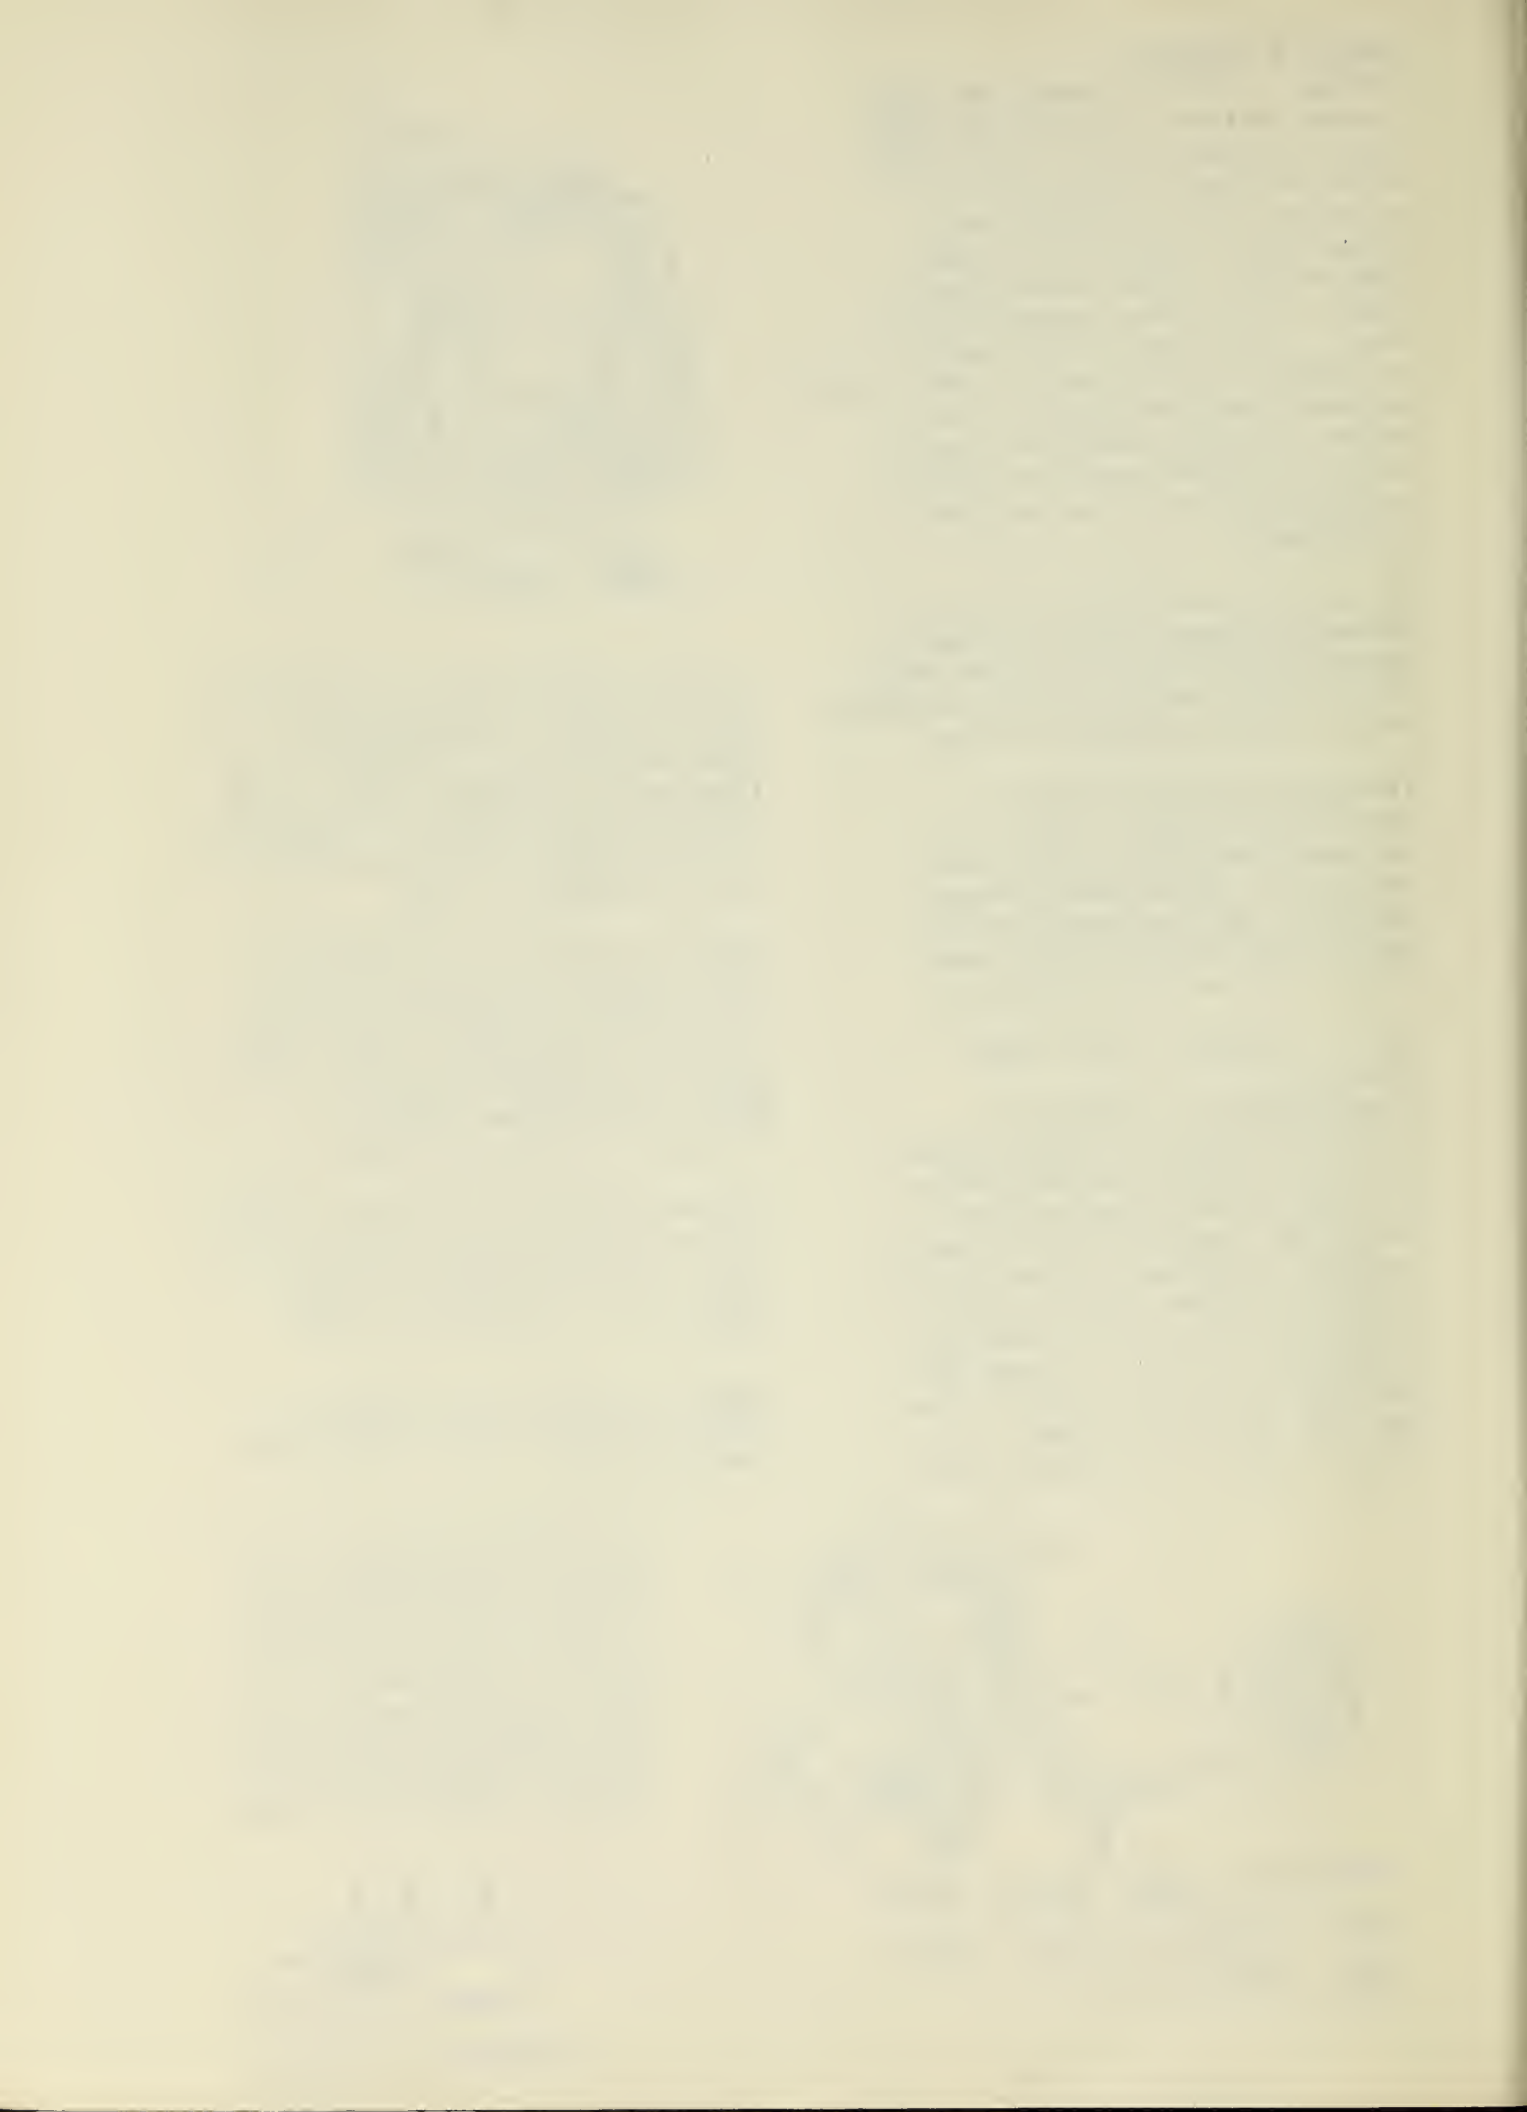

Jenkins School was erected in 1902; had an Assembly Hall on the third floor, 6 class rooms, library, dental room. Capacity was 225 pupils.

Hatherly School was erected in 1896; had five rooms, dental room and an office.

"Old" high school was removed to its present location in 1920 (in the 40's it was used for Household Arts.) It was used as a home-making school, affiliated with the high school and the instructor in Art was Miss Doris Ward (1924).

PENNY LOAFERS

At our last reunion, there was a buxom woman who rushed up to Don Hattin, arms outstretched. He was only partially successful in avoiding the embrace and the kiss that followed. "You look as handsome as ever!" she exclaimed. "Who's that blond fellow with glasses standing by the head table?"

"That's Bob Glynn, Class of '47" Hattin replied.

She headed for Glynn. "It's great to see you, Bob!" she bubbled, and he was enveloped in a flash. Then she asked him, "Isn't that man in the dark suit Tom whatshisname?"

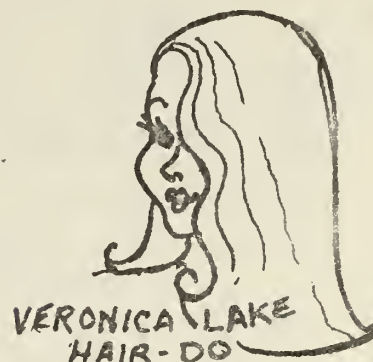

"No," said Bob, "That's George O'Neil, Class of '45, and he's talking to Ronnie Fallon, Class of '48." She rushed over to them. Hattin and Glynn began comparing notes and realized that neither one knew her. They approached the school superintendent and asked, "Who's that old gal? When did she go to school here?"

"She never set foot in this school before," he said. "But don't spoil her fun. She came with the caterers."

Gabe: "How long are you staying?"

Manuel: "I think I will stay as long as my money lasts!"

Gabe: "What a shame--I'd hoped you were going to stay two or three days."

Varney: "Why didn't you pass to me when I was open? You're the dumbest boob on the whole squad."

Mr. Dixon: "Boys! Boys! You forget I'm here."

Miss Dudley: "How would you punctuate this sentence, 'There is a pretty girl'?"

Jenkins: "I'd make a dash after the girl."

Mr. Wilcox: "What is the formula sign for water?"

Page: "H-I-J-K-L-M-N-O."

Mr. Wilcox: "What do you mean?"

Page: "Why, you said it was H-O."

NOTHING RUINS A CLASS REUNION LIKE THE FELLOW WHO HAS MANAGED TO STAY YOUNG-LOOKING AND GET RICH AT THE SAME TIME.

Teacher: "Now, Richard, if you put your hand in one pocket and pulled out 75 cents, then put your other hand in another pocket and pulled out 50 cents, what would you have?"

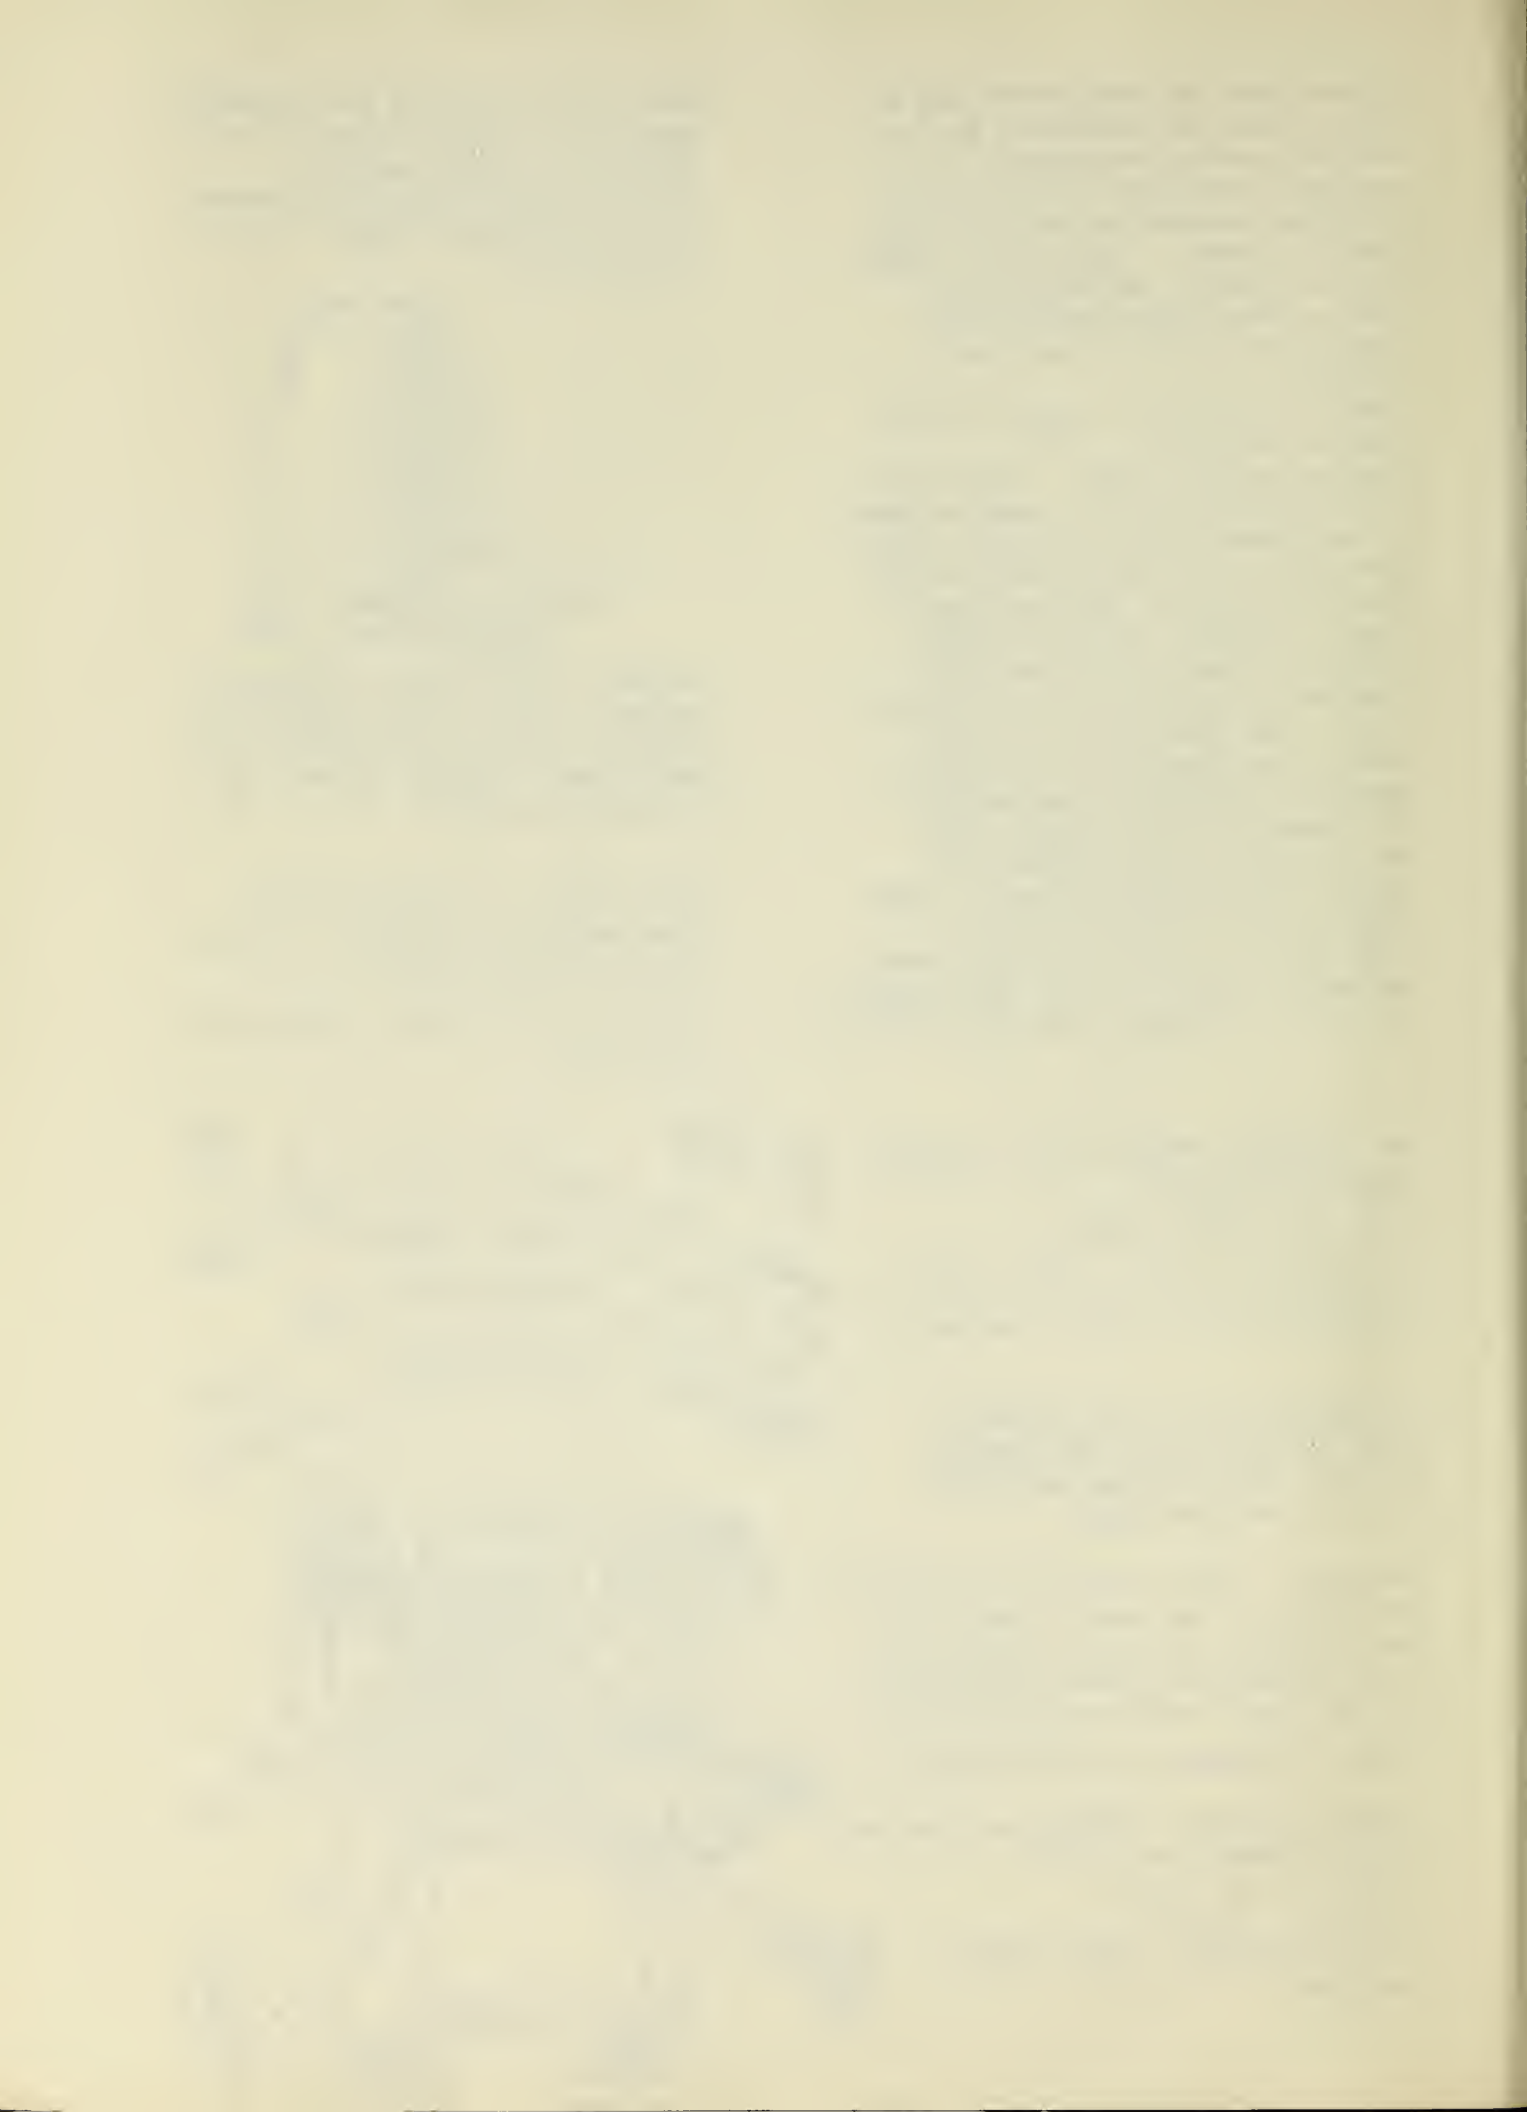

Ewell: "Somebody else's pants."

Night Watchman: "Young man, are you going to kiss that girl?"

Student: "No, sir."

Night Watchman: "Then hold my lantern."

Teacher: "Why, Billie, do you mean to say you wouldn't like to be president?"

Billie: "Not just now. I would rather wait until things cool down a bit."

Miss Vinal: "Now, we find that X equals zero."

Amiot: "Aw, gee, all that work for nothing."

Ham actor (with feeling): "Will you miss me?"

Voice from back of hall: "Give me a gun and I'll try not to."

Cobbie: "Where's Boston?"

Ralph: "They're playing in Montreal,"

Ewell: "Is this toothbrush sanitary?"

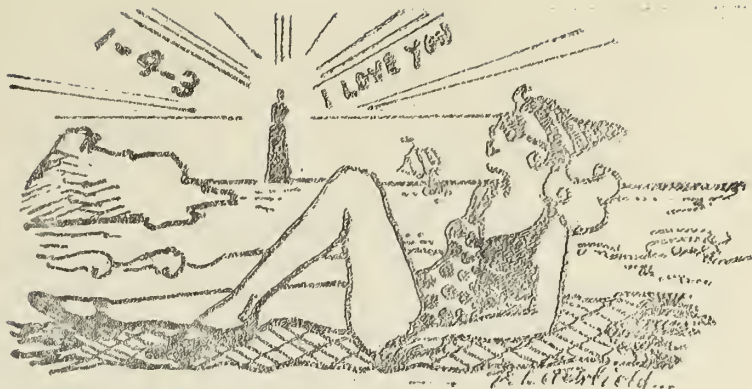

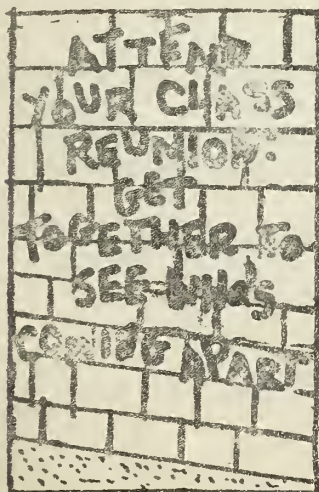

Atkins: "It must be, everybody used it!"

Deda: "What would you like best in a husband? Brains? Ambition, or appearance?"

Adelva: "Appearance, and I wish he'd hurry up."

Briggs: "Are you yawning?"

Coombs: "No, I'm giving a silent war whoop."

THE CHIMES

Under what is known as Lawson's Tower, a rusty water tank formerly stood, uncovered. When Dreamwold Hall was completed, Mr. Lawson discovered that a good deal of the view was spoiled by the unsightly water tank. To remedy this, he presented a proposition to the Water Company. The proposition was to allow him to erect a building over the tank, in which, in time, chimes would be placed. The Water Company agreed, realizing that the building would add to the beauty of the town, and the chimes would be very pleasant to hear.

Lawson's Tower was erected in 1901, with a great expenditure of labor, time and capital. Early in 1902 Mr. Lawson verified his proposition by purchasing from Meneely and Company, West Troy, New York, a set of excellent chimes. The bells were placed one hundred and twenty-one feet from the ground, thus enabling practically all the residents of Scituate to hear their inspiring music.

There is a sad incident connected with the tower, which is as follows: A young Swede, working on the tower, fell, and in a few minutes, he died. Superstitious people believe that he is heard moaning after the playing of the chimes.

When first installed, the chimes were rung an hour every night. After Mrs. Lawson's death, they were not touched for many years, but as weddings occurred in the Lawson family, the bells were rung. The chimes were also played on special occasions such as holidays, and celebrations, held in the town.

After Mr. Lawson's failure, Mr. Frederic Bailey purchased the chimes, and the Town of Scituate bought them from him in March, 1923, at the small price of three thousand, five hundred dollars. The tower was given to the Water Company.

The chimes are now played automatically every morning at seven, and every evening at six. They are also played on special occasions by Mr. Frederic Bailey.

As the chimes have a very interesting history, we hope our paper, which we have named for them, will have one as interesting. We also hope our CHIMES will ring out as beautiful a message in the future as that of the original chimes.*

This year, 1983, is the 60th anniversary of the chimes being re-installed into the water tower and we thought it appropriate to make the theme of our first joint class reunion "The Chimes", and to include some of its history in the souvenir booklet.

Dreamwold was closed this past February and sold in April. Condominiums are scheduled to be built on the site in the near future.
